

Mosaic Binance Partnership

Mosaic Exchange has partnered with Binance Exchange in order to increase the availability of coin trading-pairs and liquidity in regards to our copy-trading services. Additionally, Binance is the primary wallet of your funds, thereby maintaining the safety of client accounts. Mosaic now has the ability to allow Binance customers to Copy-Trade using the Mosaic platform with some of the top traders in the world. Mosaic Clients are able to fund their Mosaic account with BTC (Bitcoin) or Fiat (Bank Wire), and then begin using the Mosaic Copy-Trading services, by letting our best Traders make knowledgeable decisions. Binance, our largest trading partner, has access to over 482 Trading pairs and 154 coins. Our Software as a Service (SaaS) links directly to Binance via API, thus allowing Mosaic Clients to perform trades internally or externally with their secure digital asset account.

Institutional Investors also will now have the ability to access their Mosaic Sub Account feature, thus allowing the use of a shared account for management, and access to check the funds in their independently functioning Binance wallet to our external exchange type. This will allow for complete transparency of their funds. The liquidity of the USD pairs will further allow a special copy-trading account; which has the capability to increase profits for larger investments, without slippage. This therefore allows Mosaic to work with Institutional Clients and all Family Offices around the world in a way that has never been seen before in the crypto space.

Launching a Decentralized Stock Exchange

More good news recently for Binance is that they are partnering with Neufund to build the world’s first Decentralized Stock Exchange. Alongside the Malta Stock Exchange, they are aiming to create a regulated and decentralized global stock exchange for listing and trading tokenized securities alongside crypto-assets.

According to CapLinked, the market cap of equity tokens alone is projected to reach $1 trillion by 2020 and thanks to the partnership with MSX, a subsidiary of the Malta Stock Exchange and Binance, Neufund will become the first end-to-end primary issuance platform for security tokens, in particular, equity tokens. It will secure ways for secondary trading of equity tokens and enable companies around the world to fundraise on Blockchain in a legal way while offering much-needed liquidity.
